Authentic Bob Mackie canvas print celebrates a legacy of style and soul.

“From smooth Jazz to soulful Motown, the incredible black female vocalists of the 1960s and 1970s were so influential and iconic. Not only was their music extraordinary; they also were pioneers who paved the way for so many female vocal artists. They took bold risks, and that included their fashion. I was honored to help create that look. The gowns were body-conscious, soulful and glamorous — very befitting of the women who wore them.”

~ Bob Mackie

Bob Mackie’s impeccable attention to design, fabric and color has led to the creation of the most talked-about fashions in the industry. Fittingly nicknamed the Sultan of Sequins, his legendary designs have graced the world’s most influential women ... including Tina Turner, Aretha Franklin and Diana Ross, just to name a few.

Now, Bob Mackie draws inspiration from the unforgettably soulful music of the 1960s and 1970s, when iconic girl groups topped the charts and stole the spotlight with their sizzling vocals ... and just as sizzling style.
